Apply for UN-DESA Grant on Energy for Sustainable Development by 15 August

Applications for the 2016 UN-DESA Grant on Energy for Sustainable Development are being accepted until 15 August 2016. The thematic focus for the 2016 Grant, which carries an award of one million US dollars for the winner, is "Energy for Sustainable Transport". Applications are open to individuals, institutions or partnerships based on past and current achievements.

The Grant seeks to advance sustainable development by encouraging scientific and technological innovations and fostering leadership initiatives and innovative actions that improve energy for sustainable transport, while addressing economic, social and environmental sustainability. Successful recipients should be able to demonstrate leadership and innovation in energy for sustainable transport, as well as willingness and ability to implement knowledge transfer through capacity building activities aimed at replicating and scaling up successful experiences and lessons learned.
